

by Teresa Malcolm

View Author Profile

Join the Conversation

June 13, 2019

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

After tumultuous year, bishops' meeting opens with palpable sense of weariness. The U.S. bishops' spring assembly is underway in Baltimore. Follow NCR's coverage at the USCCB Spring Assembly 2019 feature series page.

Reporter Margot Patterson visits the Trappists in Midelt, Morocco, and shares with us the insights of the last monk of Tibhirine, Fr. Jean-Pierre Schumacher. He was a member of the Trappist community in Algeria where seven monks were kidnapped and killed in 1996. They and 12 other Christians killed during the Algerian civil war were beatified in 2018, and the Trappist community has been re-established at Notre Dame de L'Atlas Monastery in Midelt.

And another martyr's legacy endures in Brazil: 'The religion of this people is their land,' say Sr. Dorothy Stang's successors. Two Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, Stang's congregation, continue her support for poor agricultural workers.

Spurred to action by last year's Pennsylvania grand jury report on sex abuse and its cover-up in the Catholic Church, parishioners at two Philadelphia-area churches organize on abuse crisis.

The example of the "Greatest Generation" in the battle against Nazism should not let us off the hook, thinking we can't measure up, writes Young Voices columnist Brian Harper. There are plenty of worthy causes to take on today, so have the willingness of D-Day veterans, rise to the challenge.

Advertisement

*Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.*