

by Teresa Malcolm

View Author Profile

**Join the Conversation**

July 25, 2019

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

Fr. Augustus Tolton and Sr. Thea Bowman are two prominent examples of African American Catholics who have been put forward on the path to canonization.

**Sainthood causes draw focus to black Catholics and need for justice** — and the stories of the racism they faced from fellow Catholics challenge the church today.

Young Voices columnist Brian Harper suggests another saint for our time: Archbishop Joseph Rummel, who preached that **there's no segregation in the kingdom of heaven**, and acted on that principle in New Orleans in the '40s and '50s.

The Sisters of Charity Foundation has launched a pilot project called Innovation Mission. With an entrepreneurial spirit, the **ideas incubator brings success to new poverty-disruption programs in Cleveland**.

GSR continues its reporting focus on human trafficking with a look at wider societal issues linked to the problem: **Advocates work to stop human trafficking's causes like poverty, exploitation of human rights**.

Where do you find **signs of hope in a complex world**? Sr. Lucía Aurora Herrerías Guerra uncovers some of the good things happening below the surface.

Advertisement

*Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy
Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.*