

Opinion

by Tracy Abeln

View Author Profile

tabeln@ncronline.org

Join the Conversation

February 25, 2020

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed the copy editors' desks on their way to you: National Catholic Reporter, Global Sisters Report and EarthBeat.

News of Jean Vanier's sexual abuse of women rang around the internet this weekend after the L'Arche community's report became public. Columnist Jamie Manson says that as she watched social media grapple with the news, more than one person online suggested that he was "like all of us," a mix of good and evil. She firmly states that, no, he most certainly is not.

More on the topic of abuse:

- Australian High Court releases submissions for Cardinal Pell's appeal
- After abuse scandals, seminarians pledge to 'get it right'
- Bishop shakeup: West Virginia Catholic diocese issues audit

Moving on:

One of the six members of Pope Francis' advisory Council of Cardinals (Indian Cardinal Oswald Gracias) has acknowledged a bias among the members of the Catholic Church's all-male hierarchy against giving women more leadership roles, saying he and his peers must "shed this prejudice." Read more from the NCR

interview.

A very good reminder as Lent begins Wednesday:

"One does not need a theology degree to understand real kenosis, the self-emptying of holy ones who cling to nothing but God." Read Mercy Beyond Borders founder Sr. Marilyn Lacey's uplifting column on Global Sisters Report: Even if you've not been fed, be bread.

Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter? Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.

Advertisement