

NEWS SURVEY FAITH CATHOLIC August 1-16, 2022

SPECIAL SECTION FALL & WINTER LISTINGS COMMENTARY EUGENICIST

NATIONAL CATHOLIC REPORTER THE INDEPENDENT NEWS SOURCE

McGraw-Hill August 1-16, 2022 Vol. 58, No. 22 $2.00

Pope Francis goes to the Shrine of Our Lady of the Pillars in Mexico, 19th and 20th centuries, July 25 at Puebla, Mexico.

Gay woman wins battle against US bishops to become foster parent
By BRIAN FRAGA
A woman who has been denied the right to become a foster parent because she is gay.

Pope apologizes to Canada's Indigenous
By CHRISTOPHER WHITE
Pope Francis made an historic apology during a week-long trip to Canada in late July, saying he was "deeply sorry" for the Catholic Church's "catastrophic" involvement in running abusive residential schools for Indigenous children.

Catholic hospitals struggle to aid collapsing Zimbabwe system
By THANDWA KAROVEDO
Public hospitals in Zimbabwe have experienced significant labor shortages in recent months, with staff at many hospitals going on strike to protest pay cuts in a country where the rate of currency inflation has reached 100%.

Climate-concerned voters ready to bring faith to midterm polls
By BRIAN ROYCE
With less than 90 days until the midterm elections, a national network of state-based environmental faith groups is gearing up for a final push to register their communities to vote and their own faith with voting the election.

Black Catholic groups gather for in-person meeting
By DAN STOOKMAN
The new president of the National Black Sisters' Conference closed the group's annual gathering with a message of hope and encouragement to stand with her as a witness that Black lives do matter.

Napa Institute conference focuses on banning abortion nationwide
By BRIAN FRAGA
On the evening of July 28, former U.S. Attorney General William Barr addressed a friendly audience that once three days at the Napa Institute's annual summit.

COMMENTARY GERMAN EPOCH RELIGIOUS LIFE APPRECIATION CARL KRAMER

NATIONAL CATHOLIC REPORTER THE INDEPENDENT NEWS SOURCE

McGraw-Hill August 1-16, 2022 Vol. 58, No. 22 $2.00

Climate-concerned voters ready to bring faith to midterm polls
By BRIAN ROYCE
With less than 90 days until the midterm elections, a national network of state-based environmental faith groups is gearing up for a final push to register their communities to vote and their own faith with voting the election.

Black Catholic groups gather for in-person meeting
By DAN STOOKMAN
The new president of the National Black Sisters' Conference closed the group's annual gathering with a message of hope and encouragement to stand with her as a witness that Black lives do matter.

Napa Institute conference focuses on banning abortion nationwide
By BRIAN FRAGA
On the evening of July 28, former U.S. Attorney General William Barr addressed a friendly audience that once three days at the Napa Institute's annual summit.

The front pages of two recent issues of the National Catholic Reporter (NCR graphic)

by Bill Mitchell

View Author Profile

bmitchell@ncronline.org

Follow on Twitter at @bmitch

Join the Conversation

August 26, 2022

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

When I wrote my first story for the National Catholic Reporter as a college freshman in 1967, I certainly had no idea I'd end up as its publisher and CEO a half century later.

Bill Mitchell

When I accepted the position two years ago, I told the board I would serve until my 75th birthday, with the goal of helping the board identify a longer-term publisher to lead NCR into the second half of its first century. Although my 75th birthday is a year off, NCR is on a positive trajectory and now is the time to begin the search for that next leader.

I spent the vast majority of my career in secular journalism, but the mission is fundamentally the same as what we do at NCR: to probe the issues that matter most to the communities we serve and to rely on our independence to hold the powerful accountable.

As readers and donors tell me every week, though, NCR does something more. It provides an inspirational vision of a church rooted in the Gospels and committed to values of faith and justice.

If you know of someone you believe would be the right fit, please direct them to ncr.media/pubjob for the job description and instructions on how to apply.

As ever, I thank you for your support and look forward to hearing from you.

All the best,

Bill Mitchell

816-968-2259

bmitchell@ncronline.org

Advertisement

A version of this story appeared in the Sept 2-15, 2022 print issue.